

got paper?

Many different types of people go to college, but they all have one thing in common: everyone has to write papers. Whether you look forward to writing or worry over it, pay a visit to The Writing Center.

Our trained assistants will offer you help in every stage of completing a paper—from brainstorming and organizing, to revisions and proofreading. They can advise you on the fine art of MLA or APA formatting, and direct you to our library of resource materials. You can even come in to use our computers. If you need it, we've got it. So why not stop by?

The Writing Center is for everybody.

write well. the writing center
[humanities 202]