LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY

Celebrating 77 years of access to the American dream through excellence in higher education, Long Island University is a multi-campus, diverse, doctoral institution of higher learning. As the nation's seventh-largest private university, we offer 563 undergraduate, graduate and doctoral degree programs and certificates, and educate more than 31,000 students on six metropolitan area campuses in Brooklyn, Brookville (C.W. Post), Southampton, Brentwood, Rockland and Westchester. The Arnold & Marie Schwartz College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences prepares students for successful careers in the continually growing fields of pharmacy and health care. The University's Friends World program offers a wide range of study abroad options in North America and at six overseas locations. Our nearly 700 full-time faculty members provide outstanding instruction that is supplemented by exceptional internships and cooperative education opportunities. The accomplishments of more than 116,000 living alumni are a true testament to the success of our mission — providing the highest level of education to people from all walks of life. Our NCAA Division I and II athletic teams, nationally renowned George Polk Awards in journalism, Tilles Center for the Performing Arts and the Long Island University Public Radio Network (WLIU-FM and WCWP-FM), provide excitement and enrichment for our students and the communities that we serve.

The C.W. Post Campus is distinguished by... programs of excellence with small classes in business, education, computer science, public administration, health professions and nursing, information studies, visual and performing arts and liberal arts and sciences. The wooded suburban campus, only 20 miles from New York City, is home to the renowned Tilles Center for the Performing Arts, Hillwood Art Museum and WCWP-FM, a Long Island University Public Radio Network station. C.W. Post offers the Ph.D. in information studies and the Psy.D. in clinical psychology. In 2002, the campus opened the Pratt Recreation Center, an $18 million ultra-modern recreation and sports facility.

THE NASSAU-SUFFOLK HEALTH CARE ETHICS NETWORK

The Nassau-Suffolk Health Care Ethics Network is a regional organization of institutional and individual members whose mission is to promote education in bioethics and to provide a forum for those involved in clinical ethics in Nassau and Suffolk counties. It facilitates the sharing of ideas, concerns and knowledge among members, and provides educational programs to enhance the skills needed to explore ethical decision-making in health care settings. The administrative home of the Network is The Long Island Center for Ethics. Network membership, through membership in The Long Island Center for Ethics, is available to all individuals interested in medical ethics, to all members of ethics committees and to institutional sponsors.

CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION: Those involved in clinical ethics in Nassau and Suffolk Counties have many common interests, and benefit from a forum to share ideas and concerns. This program is designed to enhance the skills needed by professionals and institutional ethics committee members for ethical decision-making regarding spirituality and religion. This conference will focus on the role of health care professionals in addressing the spiritual needs of the patient.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this conference, participants should be able to:

- Know and understand the definition of dignity
- Know and understand the definition of hope
- Understand the clinician's role in caring for dying patients with respect to the questions of dignity and hope
- Describe a variety of religious approaches to sickness and dying

The Long Island Center for Ethics of the C.W. Post Campus of Long Island University is an inter-disciplinary initiative dedicated to fostering the study of applied and professional ethics.
